Request: Trade Practices Act Recommended To Restrict The Present Market Power Of The Major Supermarkets

I submit to the above enquiry that the Trade Practices Act needs amendment, to promote healthy competition in the grocery trade and that this is long overdue.

Price rises much greater than appears warranted is an everyday observation of shoppers in relation to supermarkets. There would be little disagreement on this. The supermarkets are just what their name implies super market powers. They need checking.

I trust the Act will be amended to break at least some of their monopoly powers.

Yours faithfully,
Brian A. Tierney.
