
From: neville peck [nevillepeck@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, 26 July 2007 3:52 PM
To: Petrol Price Inquiry
Subject: Submission

Energy is of some concern for me, especially oil. I think the petrol companies are profiteering, and using their position of importance to inflate prices. Their profits are at record highs, but the cost of their supply has risen. It's obvious they're taking advantage of the situation, and the situation will only get worse, as the supply of petrol drops, and demand increases. I'm concerned about the marketing link between fuel and food. I'm concerned that they might do to food prices what they're doing to fuel prices.

In New Zealand, the prices don't rise on Wednesday, and fall late in the week. The petrol companies here in Australia, have got some irritating agenda that holds no regard for public sensitivities. Energy is of considerable national importance. Could you control, not just petrol, but all energy?
Yours sincerely, Neville Peck.

Win a trip to see Amy Winehouse perform live in the UK! Enter now!