Dear Mr Scott and Ms Taylor,

I am one of the privacy advocates involved in the ADMA A 90876 matter, for which a pre-decision conference, with a video link to Melbourne, is planned for Monday 14 November.

Since plans were made for this conference, there has been a significant policy planning development regarding outbound telemarketing:

While this does not constitute formal commitment by the Government to implement a Do_Not_Call list, the publication of this discussion paper and the call for submissions by 30 November seems to indicate that the Government will be legislating to control telemarketing in the new year.

Please let me know if there are any changes to your plans for the upcoming conference or for finalising your decision regarding ADMA.

Yours sincerely

Robin Whittle
