Im writing to you in regards to Ebays new policy that will be introduced in June. I strongly object to solely having Paypal as the only payment method. I believe as a seller this is going to limit my selling performance and cost my business more in fees. As a small business already we have our own merchant facilities that offer very competitive rates of .9% as with Paypal we will have to pay triple those fees.

On Ebay I have sold over 5000 items and not had any issues with bank deposit, money orders or even cheques. I believe paying bank deposit is extremely safe.

Taking away these payment options are going to limit a lot of buyers and as a seller preventing myself to have any control over my business.

Many thanks

Annie Hansen
