Dear ACCC

I would like to lodge my complaint about the proposed move by Ebay to limit payment options to Paypal only.

As a regular buyer on this site, I have never had any problems using the direct deposit or COD option.

As an occasional seller, I do not have the funds to support the fees and charges associated with Paypal.

I believe this is taking away my democratic right to chose my preferred payments options and any perceived risks associated with my choices.

The sole purpose of this change is to provide added profits to Ebay as Paypal is a wholly owned company of Ebay by increasing charges to sellers and forcing both sellers & buyers to provide their personal and banking details to what is basically an overseas company.

Please do not give Ebay to right to limit my choices.

Regards
Bronwyn Venus
