I do not feel that PayPal should be given solitary rights as far as being the only form of payment available to buyers on eBay. I have heard of so many problems when a sale goes wrong and people have tried to contact or get some satisfaction from PayPal without results. The theory is like Microsoft having solitary rights to any computer operating system. And besides it will add to the cost of the item/s being purchased and the idea of eBay being to get what you are after at a reasonable price compared to some retailers.

So please do not allow PayPal to be the sole payment method for eBay users.

Thanking you
