My submission against eBay International AG being granted immunity from the Trade Practices Act by being able to dictate to its customers/members they will only use and accept Paypal (a wholly owned eBay International AG company) as the only form of payment. If eBay are allowed to arbitrarily introduce this form of payment as the only acceptable form of payment they will be committing customers to incurring additional costs associated with the use of Paypal without giving customers, both buyers and sellers a choice, a choice which would include many other safe payment methods such as Cheque, Money Order, Paymate and Direct Deposit to name a few. I am wholeheartedly against the ACCC granting eBay this waiver of the law as it will restrict trade and encourage anti competitive conduct.
