Dear Sir

I am totally against eBay's plans to require the exclusive use of PayPal to pay for purchases.

I have used ebay numerous times and have paid for purchases in a variety of ways including PayPal. However I normally choose direct deposit if available to minimise the sale cost to the vendor and thus keep overall costs down. I have never had a problem with this and I do not wish to have my freedom of choice in this regard removed by ebay.

I feel that this application is just a thinly disguised attempt by ebay to maximised and leverage their unique monopoly position at the expense of ebay uses.

I urge the ACCC to deny the application and tell them to stop being un Australian and 'bugger off'!!

Yours faithfully

Rob Thomson.
