Hi,

I wish to protest against eBay's decision to force customers to use only the PayPal payment system, a company owned by eBay itself.

Payments via regular and electronic banking are secure and provide a choice to consumers, as do other methods of payment, such as using money orders.

It would be anti-competitive behaviour if only one payment method was available to customers, especially if that payment system is owned by eBay themselves.

Thank you.

Kind regards,

Dale Stewart
