Dear Lauren,

I'm probably too late to have this included but it seems to me to be a fair point and I submit that they are not being honest with the public.

Further to my comments on PayPal, their fees site says "you are never under any obligation to use PayPal". So how come we won't be able to avoid PayPal after mid-June??? They are double dipping with eBay charging 50cents to list an item under $19.99, then 5.25% of the closing price and then PayPal charging 30c plus 2.4%, which on a sale of $10.00 works out at about 5%, meaning that eBay/PayPal earns well over 10%!!!

Cheers,

Bill Mudie
