Hi There,

I am a large eBay powerseller (lifespan_australia) and very concerned with this new Paypal policy. The biggest concern I have is that I am being forced to use paypal and offer paypal when I am clearly not happy with there high fees and poor service. My major concern is the high fees and that it why if it were up to me, I wouldn't offer paypal at all. eBay is forcing sellers of offer paypal as a payment option. I wish to make a format complaint also with regards to this. I do not want to offer paypal as a form of payment simply because I think their fees are excessive and way too high and I cannot afford to pay these sorts of fees on such minimum margins. Myself and allot of other eBay sellers will find it very difficult to operate. Major changes will take place within eBay sellers companies and im sure this will affect things staff numbers within each company right through to the end customers. Something needs to be done about this or we may have a major problem. Thanks

Regards

Peter Tawaf
