Hi

I am writing with my views with regards to eBay's proposed PayPal only policy.

I think that PayPal is good, and can definately provide buyers with increased protection while using eBay.

However I also think that buyers and sellers should be given the choice. Put simply, if you want buyer protection, only bid on items that accept PayPal as a payment method (eBay have an option to search for items listed only with PayPal). It's against eBay policy for sellers to charge buyers more for using PayPal.

So while I think PayPal is good and I will only use PayPal to pay for items on eBay, I don't see the need for eBay to be (mainly) 'PayPal only', as long as buyers have the choice.
