Dear Sir/Madam,

I hereby lodge my objection to eBay's PayPal only policy in the belief that the conduct will substantially lessen competition, and that it will not deliver a net public benefit.

Unfortunately, I have had a bad experience with them, as have many other buyers and sellers, and it is my wish to choose not to use them.

Ebay have mandated the offering of PayPal for purchase payments, and I object to having to deal with a company that is not trustworthy.

It's most difficult to deal with PayPal during a dispute and I don't believe that all cases are reviewed with due attention, which quite often results in an innocent party being penalised.

In view of my personal experience with PayPal, I certainly do NOT want to be dealing with them again.

Yours faithfully,
Yvonne Poole.
