

Roy, Lauren

Subject: Complaint form submission [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

Categories: SEC=UNCLASSIFIED

ACCC Classification: SEC=UNCLASSIFIED

EXCLUDED FROM PUBLIC REGISTER

From: <email address excluded>

Sent: Friday, 23 May 2008 9:53 AM

To: Infocentre

Subject: Complaint form submission [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

Mr Ralph Picton

45-54

Male

EXCLUDED FROM PUBLIC REGISTER

<contact details excluded>

23rd May 2008

case N93365

Ebay.com.au

C20081566 Contact Officer: Lauren Roy I feel that ebays decision to only accept paypal as its choice of payment is detrimental to financial sector and a violation of my rights be it as a seller or buyer on ebay. As a seller on ebay i dont see why they have the right to force people to use paypal, I don't see any difference if Woolworth's were to turn around and say we will only accept our own credit card as payment , this is nothing more than lining their own pockets under the guise of protection for the sellers/buyer As a seller I find it offensive that I am forced to open an account that must be linked to my credit card or bank account to add funds for what might be my only purchase Where do ebay get off on controlling they way i choose to do business, it is my choice to use what ever means I want, not to be dictated to buy some overseas company. I feel that this falls under restrictive trade and should be dealt with as such, as this has removed the rights of individuals to choose and remove other financial institutes from being involved with ebay Regards Ralph