Dear Ms Balint,

In response to Dr Chadwick's letter of 25 July, I wish to submit:

In general, the evidence presented of a beneficial impact for the public in this application is not strong. The Centre for Oral Health Strategy NSW is therefore of the opinion that in the absence of such evidence a mechanism be put in place to measure performance in achieving the claimed public benefits contained within the submission if it is successful.

Such performance evaluation should include the stated benefits, and a measure of improved public affordability of dental services.

Your sincerely,

Clive Wright
