Dear Tanya,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the AMA amendment to their authorization application.

While it is an improvement to the earlier proposal, our reservations about patient confusion with regard to knowledge about practice eligibility remains. The proposal itself is welcome, however the association with AMA membership is not valid and should not apply in any way.

Regards,
Marianne

Dear Sir/Madam

As an interested party in relation to the Australian Medical Association's (AMA) application for authorisation A91334, please see attached the AMA's letter amending its application.

Please provide any comments in relation to the AMA's amendment by COB Wednesday 21 November 2012 in order for the ACCC to take them into account in its draft determination. Alternatively, there will be a further opportunity to provide comments after the release of the draft determination, prior to the ACCC's issue of its final determination.

Should you have any questions in relation to this email or the ACCC's processes, please do not hesitate to contact by on (02) 6243 1029.

Yours sincerely

Tanya Hobbs
