4. Public benefit claims

- (a) Arguments in support of notification:
(Refer to direction 7)

The Bluebay personal loan program has been specifically designed to assist customers to attain home ownership. In some cases funds may be repaid by grants, such as, for example the Housing Affordability Fund Grant.

Bluebay personal loans can allow customers to be recognised as "home owners" at the time of application as the loan is advanced simultaneously at settlement of their new home loan.

Further we consider the proposed conduct will not lessen competition because:

- i. The retail personal loan market is a well-developed, competitive market with many other loans which consumers may access
- ii. The number of customers potentially affected by the proposed conduct is immaterial compared with the total number of customers who acquire personal loans at the time of applying for a home loan to purchase an owner-occupied property

- (b) Facts and evidence relied upon in support of these claims:

Lenders in general have changed their lending criteria to exclude many potential borrowers who are not seen as "Home Owners" at the time of application. The Bluebay Personal Loans Program will assume home ownership, as settlement of the client's related home loan is, in the main, a condition of the Bluebay Personal Loan approval.

5. Market definition

Provide a description of the market(s) in which the goods or services described at 2 (a) are supplied or acquired and other affected markets including: significant suppliers and acquirers; substitutes available for the relevant goods or services; any restriction on the supply or acquisition of the relevant goods or services (for example geographic or legal restrictions):
(Refer to direction 8)

Markets that are likely to be affected are the residential housing market in Western Australia & Victoria.

6. Public detriments

- (a) Detriments to the public resulting or likely to result from the notification, in particular the likely effect of the notified conduct on the prices of the goods or services described at 2 (a) above and the prices of goods or services in other affected markets:

(Refer to direction 9)

Given the highly competitive status of the market referred to in section 5, there does not appear to be any significant public detriment associated with the proposed conduct.

- (b) Facts and evidence relevant to these detriments:

We consider the proposed conduct will not lessen competition because:

- i. The personal loan market is a well-developed, competitive market with many other loans which consumers may access;

- ii. The number of consumers potentially affected by the proposed conduct is immaterial compared to the total number of customers who acquire a retail home loan and in addition – require a personal loan to assist with Lenders mortgage Insurance costs.
- iii. Potential customers will be fully informed about the full terms of the offer before taking it up
