As a 15 year veteran business owner in the solar industry it is impossible to make HARVEY NORMAN comply with the electrical code of conduct

In Australia.

I can not understand how a RETAILER of a product is compelled to comply with a standard of installation.

This is to be upheld by the LICENCED installer.

NOT the retailer.

This is Not upholdable in a court of law.

This can not be CHARGED for as a licence to TRADE.

Thank you for reading my sub mission .

If you wish to contact the under signed for an in depth discussion please do so.
